Current and Target State Assessment

As trade settlement moves to T+1, we work with our clients to understand where they are currently positioned, outline their current capabilities and where they should be to support a T+1 framework

Impact Assessment

Sia Partners understands that the shifting operational landscape to T+1 poses a variety of challenges. We work with our clients to understand how they will be impacted front office to back office including workflow, processes, capacity, etc

Operational Enhancement

T+1 will bring drastic change to current trade settlement workflow from front office to back office. We at Sia Partners work with our clients to understand their end-to-end processes to identify pain-points and opportunities of enhancement including full risk and controls assessments

Implementation

As firms shift to a T+1 settlement, many firms are subject to upgrade their legacy systems to adjust to the new industry standard of T+1. We work with business and technology stakeholders to successfully implement systems and platforms end-to-end

Program / Project Management

We support firms going through small or large-scale business and IT transformational projects by providing program and stakeholder management services ensuring successful completion of the project

Process Reengineering

Many processes will have to be reengineered, streamlined or automated to support the shorter timeframe T+1 poses to allow for expected settlement times
